

Regina Injury Lawyer

Regina Injury Lawyer - We have knowledgeable and skilled Class Action lawyers who are qualified in both defending and advancing class actions. Because of the relatively plaintiff-friendly nature of class action legislation, there have been a lot of class action suits that have received national interest. We have a well-developed network of relationships along with class action counsel within different provinces, allowing us to mount a coordinated approach in cases where parallel procedures have been commenced in other jurisdictions.

Generally, class actions tend to create a higher level of public scrutiny and more financial exposure compared to different types of procedures. Our teams of lawyers have been involved within several class action suits, like for instance securities, taxation, product liability claims and insurance. Our clients benefit from our extensive resources and depth of knowledge.